Putting Development First - Kevin P. Gallagher 2005-06

Some of the world's most prominent development thinkers address the following question in this volume: to what extent are the rules and economic forces that govern the global economy shrinking the 'policy space' that developing countries can draw from in order to construct policies to raise the standards of living of their people? They then analyse the possibly considerable room for manoeuvre that developing countries still have at their disposal despite global macro-economic realities, IMF/World Bank policies, and the trade rules regime of the World Trade Organization. Finally, the authors suggest actual policies that could be put in place in order to preserve existing spaces for development and to expand the tools developing countries can deploy.

Auf Crashkurs - Helmut Becker 2007-01-26

Die Automobilmärkte der Welt (Triade) sind gesättigt. Neue Wachstumsmärkte wie Asien und Osteuropa können die fehlende Nachfrage nicht ausgleichen. Die globale Krise verursacht einen Verdrängungswettbewerb, der sich durch aggressive Rabattschlachten bemerkbar macht. Die Folgen: sinkende Erträge, Arbeitsplatzabbau, Produktionsverlagerung in Niedriglohnländer. In diesem Buch: die fundierte Prognose über die Zukunftsfähigkeit der elf verbliebenen Volumenhersteller (IWK-Survival-Index) und damit der gesamten Branche. Wie entwickelt sich der Markt in den nächsten zehn Jahren? Wer überlebt, wer scheidet aus? Wird Deutschland Automobilstandort bleiben?

Plastics in European Cars, 2000-2008 - I. G. Helps 2001

This report examines the application of plastics in European cars in the middle of the year 2000. It evaluates the changes in use and considers possible developments over the next decade. The use of plastics for specific components is examined, comparison is made between competitive materials and examples of commercial application are included. Estimates are presented for current plastics usage in European cars with forecasts to 2008.

High Noon in the Automotive Industry - Helmut Becker 2006-02-10

This book was born from curiosity. To begin with, it was the curiosity of an economist who studied in the 60's in an environment which has subsequently developed from national into global economics. Who has to recognize that politicians, scholars and large segments of society oblivious to supranational authorities and economic globalization forces continue to labour under the notion that they are still fully autonomous and sovereign when shaping national economic policy. And pretend as though their own national state were still the "master in its own house" that despite unbridled market economics could continue to dictate to the economy and companies how to live and in which "rooms". All that has become fiction. The laws of globalization diminish the manoeuvring space for shaping national economic policy. Even if many folks today don't want to hear it: The issue is no longer achieving what is socially desirable for the own society but rather the optimal adaptation of society and social benefits to the politically practicable.

Japanese Investment and British Trade Unionism - Hitoshi Suzuki
2020-11-23

This book revisits the long contested negotiation between the Thatcher administration and Nissan for the latter's first green-field plant in Europe. From the very beginning, the plant took Britain's EC/EU membership and tariff-free access to the single market as a token. A considerable amount of aid including component supplies was provided to attract Japanese investment and to prevent its transfer to the continent. The successful launch of Sunderland highlighted improved Anglo-Japanese relations and put an end to the Japan-EC/EU trade conflict. But the price was paid by Nissan's slump and fall, and by trade unions in both countries failing to keep counterchecks on management. Brexit and the fall of Carlos Ghosn were a double blow to Anglo-Japanese relations which are in a state of drift and need redefinition.
